D. About the Center for Effective Philanthropy | 94 |
Since February 2003, the Center for Effective Philanthropy (CEP) has conducted surveys of grantees on their perceptions of their foundation funders both on behalf of individual foundations and independently. The purpose of these surveys is two-fold: to gather data that is broadly useful – forming the basis of research reports such as Listening to Grantees: What Nonprofits Value in Their Foundation Funders (2004), Foundation Communications: The Grantee Perspective (2006), and In Search of Impact: Practices and Perceptions in Foundations’ Provision of Program and Operating Grants to Nonprofits (2006) – and to provide individual foundations with Grantee Perception Reports.

The Grantee Perception Report® (GPR) shows an individual foundation its grantee perceptions relative to a set of perceptions of other foundations whose grantees were surveyed by CEP.

- Overall, assessing foundation performance is challenging and a range of data sources is required. The GPR provides one set of perspectives that can be particularly useful in understanding foundation performance.
- It is important to note that, on most questions, grantee ratings cluster toward the high end of an absolute scale.
- Grantee perceptions must be interpreted in light of the unique strategy of the foundation.
  - The survey covers many areas in which grantees’ perceptions might be useful to a foundation. Each foundation should place emphasis on the areas covered according to the foundation’s specific priorities.
  - Low ratings in an area that is not core to a foundation’s strategy may not be concerning to a foundation. For example, a foundation that does not focus efforts on public policy would likely receive lower than average ratings in this area if it is adhering to its strategy.
- Finally, across most measures in this report, foundation structural characteristics – such as type, asset size, focus, and age – are not strong predictors of grantee perceptions, suggesting that it is possible for all foundations to attain high ratings from grantees.
Methodology

- The Center for Effective Philanthropy (CEP) has surveyed more than 50,000 grantees of 214 foundations since spring 2003. Please see the Appendix for a list of all foundations whose grantees CEP has surveyed.

- This Grantee Perception Report® (GPR) contains data collected over the last three years, and includes almost 17,000 grantee responses of 111 foundations.¹
  - CEP surveyed 91 fiscal year 2007 grantees of the Beldon Fund (“Beldon”) during February and March 2008. CEP received 77 completed responses, an 85 percent response rate.
  - The average and/or median rating for these respondents is shown throughout this report.
  - Grantees submitted responses via mail and the Web.²

- Beldon provided grantee contact information.

- Selected grantee comments are shown throughout this report. This selection of comments highlights major themes and reflects trends in the data. These selected comments over-represent negative comments about the Fund in order to offer foundation leadership a wide range of perspectives.

1: The average response rate for individual foundations over the last three years of surveys is 67 percent.
2: There are no differences of meaningful magnitude between responses received via the mail or the Web.
Key Findings

Across most dimensions on the grantee survey, Beldon Fund is rated highly by its grantees. The Fund is rated above 90 percent of foundations in the comparative set for its impact on grantees’ fields, and for its understanding of and ability to advance knowledge in those fields. Grantees’ ratings of the Fund’s effect on public policy in their fields is the highest in the comparative set.

Grantees rate the Fund’s impact on their organizations more positively than typical and ratings of its understanding of grantees’ goals and strategies is above those of all other foundations. The impact of the Fund’s funding on grantees’ ability to sustain their work is rated as positively as the median foundation and over 75 percent of grantees indicated that after 2008 they will continue the work funded by the grant in the same form or slightly modified.

The quality of Beldon’s interactions with its grantees – approachability if a problem arises, responsiveness of Fund staff, and fairness of treatment of grantees – is rated above the 75th percentile. Grantees are as satisfied with their experience with the Fund as grantees of the typical foundation.

The clarity with which the Fund has communicated its goals and strategy is above the median foundation and in responses to open-ended comments, grantees indicate that the Foundation has been “very clear about the fact that they were spending down.”

The Fund has provided 62 percent of grantees with non-monetary assistance – a larger than typical proportion. Eighty-four percent report that the Fund provided assistance securing funding from other sources – the largest proportion among foundations in the comparative set – and the impact of these efforts is rated more positively than typical.

The helpfulness of the Fund’s selection process in strengthening grantees organizations or the program funded by the grant is similar to that of the median foundation and the helpfulness of its evaluation process is rated less positively than typical. The Fund’s selection and evaluation processes require as much time of grantees as typical, and Beldon’s grants are larger in size than those of the median foundation. This results in a larger than typical number of grant dollars received by grantees for each hour spent on completing the Fund’s administrative requirements.
Reading GPR Charts

Much of the grantee perception data in the GPR is presented in the format below. These graphs show the average of grantee responses for Beldon, over a background that shows percentiles for the average ratings for the full comparative set of 111 foundations. Throughout the report, many charts in this format are truncated from the full scale because foundation averages fall within the top half of the absolute range.

Truncated Chart

- The green bar represents the average grantee rating for Beldon.
- The long red line represents the average grantee rating of the median of all foundations in the comparative set.
- Data from all 111 foundations is not available on each question due to changes in the survey instrument; the Ns for each chart are noted here.

- “Beldon has mattered enormously in building the environmental health movement and in encouraging true collaboration.”

Impact on Grantee Organizations

On impact on grantee organizations, Beldon is rated:

• above the median foundation

Selected Grantee Comments

• “Beldon Fund has had a tremendous impact on our organization. Their support has given us the credibility to develop and demonstrate new collaborative approaches that would not have been done without their support. These approaches have resulted in significant real-world progress on the issues that drive our mission.”

• “Beldon Fund had a profound impact on our ability to expand and grow – through direct funding, excellent trainings, and peer-to-peer meetings.”

• “The consistent support and multi-year support meant a level of stability. The general support meant flexibility.”

• “It made the difference. We couldn’t have done it otherwise and would be in a tough position heading into the future. But due to the Beldon Fund’s support, we are ready to charge into the future and are well positioned for future success.”

• “The program officer was an outstanding resource for conceptualizing our organization’s place in the scheme of environmental change organizations.”

• “A very good balance between staying informed about progress in the grant without ‘micromanaging’ the grantee!”
On understanding of grantees’ goals and strategies, Beldon is rated:
• higher than all other surveyed foundations

Note: This question includes a “don’t know” response option; 8 percent of Beldon respondents answered “don’t know,” compared to 8 percent at the median foundation.
Impact on Sustainability of Funded Work

On the effect of the Fund’s funding on grantees’ ability to sustain their work in the future, Beldon is rated:

- similarly to the median foundation
Continuation of Work Funded by Beldon

Beldon grantees were asked to indicate how their organization is planning to continue the work funded by the Fund’s grant, if at all, after 2008. Forty-five percent of grantees indicated that their work will be continued in the same form. Grantees were also asked to describe how Beldon helped their organization plan for sustainability or if there were opportunities that were missed. A selection of these comments is below.

Selected Grantee Comments

- “They gave us ample warning of the spend down. They gave us extra monies to spend on fundraising capacity as part of the planning for the transition. They did everything they could within reason on this front.”
- “They were very helpful with introductions to new donors, however they did push a little late for strategies to develop a small donor base, which would clearly help make the work more sustainable.”
- “Program staff at the Beldon Fund … were especially supportive and engaged to help us find opportunities to sustain the work after Beldon funding. Both also encouraged us to plan and made the future possibilities very clear.”
- “Beldon Fund asked us what our plan for continued funding was, but didn’t provide technical support or assistance to find new sources of funding which would have been most useful.”
- “[Our program officer] has been phenomenal in her support of our work. She held us accountable for finding matching funds and has arranged calls and meetings with foundations who she believes would be interested in sustaining our work.”
- “We participated in the intensive fundraising training program, which was helpful. It also is helpful that they spent time working to expand the broader foundation community’s understanding of and support for more advocacy based work.”

Note: Comparative data not available because this question was only asked of Beldon grantees.
Other Comments About Beldon’s Spend Down

Beldon grantees were asked to provide any additional comments that relate to Beldon’s spend down of its grantmaking assets. A selection of these comments are below.

> "Please add any additional comments that relate to Beldon’s spend down of its grantmaking assets."

- "There is great value in making the decision and sharing it widely that the assets would be spent on intended purposes within an established timeline. Clear expectations are good and have served the foundation and grantees well."

- "There are great stories to tell other funders about the Beldon Fund experience. Ideally we can capture the best stories, package them and get them out to folks. In particular I’m thinking about the Fundraising Program, Peer-to-Peer gatherings, and supporting state tables."

- "Of course because of the unique nature of their support – especially its size and the fact that it evolved into general support – we wish they weren’t leaving."

- "They did an excellent job at saving the environment by funding our organization’s work and they did a very effective job at communicating with us."

- "I think it was really smart that Beldon Fund made its last two years of funding available in one final grant. This action will make it easier for us to find replacement funding without feeling as desperate as we might have otherwise. I also very much support Beldon’s decision to spend down its assets and think more foundations should follow its lead. It’s the right and responsible thing to do! Foundations hold onto their money more tightly than they should and, definitely, for too long! Bigger, multi-year grants are most useful to non-profit organizations."

- "Personally, I think it was the wrong decision. The left could have used a small permanent source of funds; this is how the right has succeeded."

- "The Beldon Fund will be missed. There are few risk-taking funders willing to give core support for advocacy, right-to-know, and environmental policy work."

- "Although challenging for us organizationally, it’s a respectable strategy to pursue."

On overall satisfaction, a measure on which grantees at all foundations rate positively on an absolute scale, Beldon is also rated positively and:

- similarly to the median foundation

Selected Grantee Comments

- “[Beldon is] one of our most involved and thoughtful funders providing financial support, but also excellent suggestions for program work, funding strategies, support through major personnel shifts – truly helpful. We felt our program officer was almost on staff – we felt comfortable discussing pretty much anything.”

- “By far among the most helpful, civil, supportive, interested, and approachable foundations. Their assistance in remembering grant-related deadlines shows an appreciation of the busy lives and important roles of their grantees. They act like partners instead of judges, which makes the work much better.”

- “Honestly, it is the best foundation I have ever worked with in more than 20 years of doing advocacy work. Really knowledgeable, very supportive, [and a] great partner.”

Survey-Wide Analysis Fact: Three dimensions best predict grantee perceptions of satisfaction with their foundation funders: 1) Quality of Interactions with Foundation Staff: fairness, responsiveness, approachability; 2) Clarity of Communication of a Foundation’s Goals and Strategy: clear and consistent articulation of objectives; 3) Expertise and External Orientation of the Foundation: understanding of fields and communities of funding and ability to advance knowledge and affect public policy. For more on these findings and resulting management implications, please see CEP’s report, Listening to Grantees: What Nonprofits Value in Their Foundation Funders.
Satisfaction Relative to Last Year

The proportion of Beldon grantees that are more satisfied this year with the Fund than they were last year is:

- similar to that of the average foundation

Change in Satisfaction with the Foundation from Last Year

- More satisfied: 21%
- Similarity satisfied: 40%
- Less satisfied: 39%
- Average Foundation: 80%

Note: Question asked of grantees that were receiving funding from the foundation last year as well as this year. This chart includes data about 111 foundations.

Communication of Goals and Strategy

On clarity of the Fund’s communication of its goals and strategy, Beldon is rated:

• higher than ninety percent of surveyed foundations

Selected Grantee Comments

• “They made the job easy: they were clear about what they were looking for and had regular communications with us about our proposal and the funding timeline. Beldon has a great staff.”

• “Direct, accurate, candid, and extremely helpful. I wish all foundations were as clear as Beldon. It was a pleasure to work with them.”

• “Strong, for the most part. Sometimes in the past [the Fund] was less clear or less consistent between staff/written communications.”

• “We’ve always been very happy with the level and quality of communication with all Beldon Fund staff. The advice we’ve received has been consistent with their written communication information.”
On consistency of the Fund’s communications resources, both personal and written, Beldon is rated:

- similarly to the median foundation

Consistency of Information Provided by Communications Resources

1-7 Scale

- Completely consistent: 7.0
- Top of range
- 75th percentile
- 50th percentile (median)
- 25th percentile
- Bottom of range

Survey-Wide Analysis Fact: Consistency of Communications, both personal and written, is the best predictor of grantee ratings of a foundation’s clarity of communication of its goals and strategy. Other predictors are 1) Quality of Interactions with Foundation Staff: fairness, responsiveness, approachability and 2) The helpfulness of a foundation’s selection and reporting/evaluation processes in strengthening grantees’ programs and/or organizations – key moments that can reinforce or undermine foundation messages. For more on these findings, key resources most valued by grantees, and management implications, please see CEP’s report, Foundation Communications: The Grantee Perspective.
Compared to the median foundation, a larger than typical proportion of Beldon grantees report using personal communications with Fund staff to learn about the Fund. The helpfulness of the Fund’s communications resources vary relative to the ratings of the median foundation.

Note: This chart includes data about 111 foundations.
Communication About Spend Down

At the time they completed the survey, 99 percent of Beldon grantees were aware that the Fund will no longer be awarding grants after 2008. Beldon grantees were asked to rate the clarity with which the Fund communicated its intention to spend down, with 1= “not at all clearly” and 7 = “extremely clearly” and gave an average rating of 6.7.

“How clearly did the Foundation communicate its intention to spend down?”

Note: Comparative data not available because this question was only asked of Beldon grantees.
Beldon grantees were asked to rate the clarity with which the Fund communicated the timing and amount of their final grant, with 1 = “not at all clearly” and 7 = “extremely clearly” and gave an average rating of 6.2.

“How clearly did the Foundation communicate the timing and amount of your final grant?”

Analysis and Discussion

Opportunities for Communication and Teaching

- As Beldon Fund spends down, it may want to consider how it communicates its strategy, challenges, and successes with other funders.
  - Grantees rate the Fund very positively on a variety of measures including measures related to its impact on grantees’ fields, the clarity of its communications, and its impact on and understanding of their organizations.
  - Grantees perceive the Fund as having spent down its assets very responsibly.
    - The Fund is rated as positively as typical for its impact on grantees’ ability to sustain their work in the future.
    - When asked to comment on how Beldon has helped their organizations plan for the sustainability of their Beldon-funded work, the majority of grantees indicated that Beldon has worked hard to ensure that its spend down would not negatively impact its grantees: “Beldon staff worked hard to convince other funders to support the campaign” and “provided extremely helpful fundraising trainings … that helped us prepare for their phase out.” Very few mentioned missed opportunities to strengthen their organizations.

- To what extent has Beldon shared what it has learned from its tenure as a foundation with other funders?
- Can Beldon share what it has learned while spending down its assets so that other foundations can learn from its experience?

- The Fund has provided 84 percent of its grantees with assistance securing funding from other sources – the largest proportion in the comparative set. The median foundation in the comparative set provides only 22 percent of its grantees with this type of assistance. Overall the impact of this assistance is rated more positively than typical for it’s impact on grantees’ ability to secure funds from other sources.

- Is there any advice the Fund would have for other foundations that may be trying to provide a large proportion of their grantees with assistance securing funding from other sources?

- larger than that of the average foundation

Survey-Wide Analysis Fact: By itself, type of grant awarded is not an important predictor of grantees’ ratings of a foundation’s impact on their organizations. However, ratings of impact on the grantee organization are higher for operating than program support grantees when those operating support grants are larger and longer term than what foundations typically provide. For more information on these findings, please see CEP’s report, In Search of Impact: Practices and Perceptions in Foundations’ Provision of Program and Operating Grants to Nonprofits.

Note: This chart includes data about 98 foundations.

The following section is an excerpt of CEP’s Operational Benchmarking Report (OBR).

- It contains charts based on data supplied by foundations that subscribe to the GPR and the OBR. This data is both from IRS tax filings as well as self-reported information.

These pages are intended to provide context to Beldon in thinking about its GPR results relative to its grantmaking and staffing.

- Foundations of different sizes and focuses choose to structure their foundations differently – so, as with all the information contained in this report, the Fund should interpret data in this section in light of its distinctive goals and strategy.
Beldon’s administrative expenses as a proportion of its assets are:
- larger than those of ninety percent of surveyed foundations

Beldon’s administrative expenses as a proportion of its giving are:
- similar to those of the median foundation

1: Total assets is in Box I on the 990-pf (line 21 on the 990), total administrative expense is line 24a (line 44a subtracting 22a on the 990), and total giving is line 25d (22a on the 990).
2: On the left-hand chart, one value over 15% is not shown. On the right-hand chart, four values over 100% are not shown.
Beldon staff devote a similar proportion of their time to grantmaking compared to other foundation staffs in our sample.

About the Center for Effective Philanthropy (CEP)

Mission

To provide data and create insight so philanthropic funders can better define, assess, and improve their effectiveness and impact.

Vision

We seek a world in which pressing social needs are more effectively addressed. We believe improved effectiveness of philanthropic funders can have a profoundly positive impact on nonprofit organizations and the people and communities they serve.
CEP Funders

CEP is funded through a combination of foundation grants and revenue earned from management tools and seminars. Funders providing support for CEP’s work include:

- Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation
- blue of california
- Charles Stewart Mott Foundation
- The David and Lucile Packard Foundation
- Edna McConnell Clark Foundation
- the James Irvine Foundation
- Moore Foundation
- KAUFFMAN Foundation
- LUMINA Foundation
- MacArthur Foundation
- Marguerite Casey Foundation
- Robert Wood Johnson Foundation
- Rockefeller Brothers Fund
- Stuart Foundation
- SURDNA Foundation
- The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation
CEP Research

CEP’s research and creation of comparative data sets leads to the development of assessment tools, publications serving the foundation field, and programming. CEP’s research initiatives focus on several subjects, including:

- Overall Performance Assessment
- Foundation Strategy
- Foundation Governance
- Foundation-Grantee Relationships
- Managing Operations
CEP Assessment Tools

CEP provides foundation leaders with assessment tools – utilizing comparative data – that inform performance assessment:

- Grantee Perception Report® (GPR): provides CEOs, boards, and staff with comparative data on grantee perceptions of funder performance on a variety of dimensions.

- Applicant Perception Report (APR): a companion to the GPR that provides comparative data from surveys of declined grant applicants.

- Comparative Board Report (CBR): provides data on board structure and trustee perceptions of board effectiveness on a comparative basis.

- Staff Perception Report (SPR): explores foundation staff members’ perceptions of foundation effectiveness and job satisfaction on a comparative basis.

- Operational Benchmarking Report (OBR): provides comparative data, relative to a selected peer group of foundations, on aspects of foundation operations – including foundation staffing, program officer workload, grant processing times, and administrative costs.

- Stakeholder Assessment Report (STAR): delivers insight about a funder’s effectiveness by surveying stakeholders a funder seeks to influence as part of its strategy.

- Multidimensional Assessment Process (MAP): provides an integrated assessment of performance, assimilating results and data from all of CEP’s assessment tools into key findings, implications, and recommended action steps for greater effectiveness.
This report was produced for the Beldon Fund by the Center for Effective Philanthropy in May 2008.
